GAIN IN BANK DEPOSITS

To use the language of the state superintendent of banking, "extraordinary gains" are shown in the combined resources and deposits of the state-supervised banks. And when a man who has anything whatever to do with banks or banking, goes so far as to report "extraordinary gains," one may rest assured that the situation is precisely as pictured.

But the extraordinary gains in deposits and resources which the state superintendent's report indicates, bespeak only one thing—a prosperous condition of the state as a whole and an exceptionally prosperous condition of the several localities where there are state-supervised banking institutions. Were it not for prosperity there would be no increase in bank deposits.

Ohio's position as the fifth largest banking state in the United States is materially strengthened by the condition of the banks at the current writing. Yet there are some pessimists who cannot see that normality is here.

The growth of savings accounts in the banks of Ohio indicates a higher level of living as well as an economic condition which is wholesome.

THOSE TRICK LIGHTERS

Now that you have decided quite definitely against buying a pocket lighter the chances are someone will give you one. What else are birthdays for? Or Christmas? Or Father's day? And after all is said and done, the pocket lighter is not so difficult once you get the hang of it.

It always is a good idea before starting out to see that you have enough gas. The gas may be purchased at approximately twice the price of a package of matches, and will last just about as long. These preliminaries attended to, it is a good idea to invite to dinner some one who has had experience in driving a lighter, in order that you may take lessons.

Be careful in filling the tank to not let the gas spill. Estimate accurately the number of gallons you need. Otherwise there may be a petty explosion and you will have for a brief moment, the sensation of holding a flaming plum pudding in your hand.

Then you lift the hood and endeavor to start the ignition by a clock-wise movement of the thumb. This will lead to some physical discomfort at first, but eventually nature will take care of the problem by a callous place.

Should yours prove to be the light that failed, there may be various explanations. Perhaps the trouble lies in the magneto, or you have tried to go into high without releasing the clutch, or your gears may have become locked, or the cylinders may need reboring.

Then again it may be just a playful antic of the wind, in which case you have only to seek out a convenient vacuum or await impatiently more favorable weather reports before taking off. But there is great virtue in the pocket lighter. As a novelty gift it surpasses bedroom slippers, necktie and belts. Like a walking stick or a monocle, it is exceedingly useful in assisting you to strike an attitude, if not a light. And once you have been bitten, it may become as diverting as golf, or a toothpick. You will experience increasing unwillingness to hide your lighter under a bushel.

By all means, every man should possess one. But that should not forbid his carrying a few matches in his pocket for use in an emergency.

What Others Say

TIPPING OVER THE CLIMATE
Sea-faring imaginations, like salmonaries, seem to be stimulated by heat. This summer the sea serpent has been regrettably absent; we trust not permanently. In its place, however, comes another old favorite; the myth of something happening to the Gulf stream. A generation ago the stories of accidents to that shoreless river and thus to the climate of England supplied regular week end succor to editors whose copy hooks were bare. Some Frenchman even built a novel, if we mistake not, on the idea of damming the great current between Florida and Cuba, to thrust perfidious Albion back into the Ice ages and make Europe safer for Parisian amusements.

In unimagined fact, as Dr. Kimball and others point out in commenting on the recent stories, the Gulf stream is really a general drift of water, northwardly across the ocean, not a limited and definite stream. Only while it is close to the American coast does constraint by shores and shoals confine it to a concentrated course. To find in midocean currents moving in westerly directions instead of easterly ones is no great novelty and has little climatic importance. Were the earth stationary and featureless, covered with one unending sea of uniform depth, the heating of the tropics would set surface currents flowing poleward, deeper currents returning to the equator. The globe's rotation deflects these currents; toward the east in the Northern Hemisphere, toward the west in the Southern one. Barriers of continents create other complexities. But these actual movements of ocean water are too vast to be disturbed by such slight accidents as weather or dams. If some one did dam the straits at Florida the northeastward drift of warm water would merely take some other course, reaching England just the same.

Only one feature of the earth seems able, by its own unbalance, to upset the climatic equilibrium. This is the Arctic ocean. The distinguished British meteorologist, Dr. C. E. P. Brooks, believes that some 30 centuries ago the Arctic ocean was free of permanent ice and that the climate of circumpolar lands was warmer. Some slight change of weather upset this; another slight change might be sufficient, he believes, to tilt it back again. An open Arctic would affect winds and weather in all adjacent lands. Polar bears might find their homes uncomfortably summery, but for the rest of us the change, doubtless, would be grateful.—New York Herald Tribune.

AT LAST SOME NEW LIGHT ON ASTHMA

By Royal S. Copeland, M. D.
United States Senator From New York, Former Commissioner of Health, New York City

Asthma is a strange disease. It is so freakish in its effects and is so difficult to handle that hundreds of "asthma cures" have been placed on the market. This is not surprising for the medical profession was baffled for years. In the meantime, the poor sufferers continued to endure the agonies of the disease.

During the past few years we have learned that some persons have remarkable sensitivity to certain substances. It is now believed that many cases of asthma are produced by the inhalation of one of many such substances.

The medical profession has come to understand that every asthma patient must be studied as an individual. What will help one is useless for another.

In studying the means of relief the first thing is to find the exciting cause. What do you suppose are some of the irritating substances?

Well, rabbit hair is one. Immediately you will say, "How in the world could I come in contact with rabbit hair? I haven't seen a rabbit in 40 years."

The hair of Australian rabbits is a common filling for pillows. Likewise, rabbit fur is dyed and used in making neckties.

It is not uncommon to find a person who is never free from asthma in one house and never has it when he visits the home of a relative. This might be accounted for by the presence and use of rabbit hair pillows in the one house and feather pillows in the other.

I read of one victim who was found to be sensitive to the dust of her own home. There was something in it which appeared to excite the attacks of asthma. This might be because of the admixture with the dust of particles of wool or other substance from one particular rug.

But there are other ways of getting the irritating material into the system besides breathing it. Certain protein foods are poisonous to the susceptible. By careful testing the offending food substance is found. Relief follows its exclusion from the diet.

Hay fever is like asthma, but it appears to be caused by the pollen of certain plants and grasses. Goldenrod, roses, timothy hay, rag weed and other plants are carriers of the pollen which brings on the attacks. Fortunately only a small percentage of persons are subject to asthma and hay fever. Every victim must be studied carefully to find the particular factor, responsible for his agony.

EXCAVATORS AT CLUNY DIG FOR ANCIENT DATA

Cluny, France, Aug. 18.—With a populace looking on with awe and whispering about the discovery of hidden gold American excavators are digging away placidly on the site of the Abbey of Cluny, stronghold on monasticism in the Middle Ages.

Despite village gossip the expedition, headed by Dr. Kenneth J. Conant, of Harvard university, is seeking a less material treasure, and that is knowledge. Gold, if any, will be turned over to the local museum which already has been enriched by finds of the excavators.

Early History
The expedition was sent out by the Mediaeval Academy of America which obtained a concession on the historic site, for the purpose of obtaining new data on the construction of the Abbey and adjoining church, 596 feet long.

This church, built between 1083 and 1220, had four towers 200 feet high and three others 150 feet high. It was the largest church ever constructed in France. Revolutionists demolished the church between 1798 and 1823, using the stone for building material.

The excavators have uncovered 15 feet of masonry at the northern portal of the church and found fragments of sculptured decoration evidencing, it was said, the thoroughness with which the revolutionists destroyed the structure.

Many Traditions
Cluny is steeped in traditions and myths, which are said to account for the strong belief that American excavators are digging for gold.

The town was captured in 1471 by the troops of Louis XI. Forty-eight years later the Abbey became the property of the Gysse family. Four Guises held the office of abbot for the next hundred years. Cluny was the storm center for the wars of the religion in the 16th century. The Abbey was closed in 1790 and the last blow fell with the destruction of the church.

HOOVER VISITS GRAND CANYON

Candidate Is Committed In Favor of Boulder Dam Project

Enroute with Hoover to Williams, Ariz., Aug. 18—Definitely committed in favor of the Boulder dam project, Herbert Hoover diverted from his return trip to Washington today to visit the Grand canyon of the Colorado in Arizona.

The Republican nominee left California behind uncertain to return again before election day in order to cast his ballot at home.

Under the circumstances, Hoover will close his campaign on the west coast.

His advisers today were considering a program of three major speeches in the last week of the campaign. One would be made in Chicago as Hoover sped westward to his Palo Alto home. The second would be made at Kansas City and the third, closing the campaign, would be made over the radio, either from San Francisco or from his Palo Alto home on the night before the election.

Hoover, however, will have to be won over to this plan as he is a reluctant campaigner. He personally expressed the wish to make four speeches after his Iowa farm address next Tuesday and it is his personal plan to make only as many speeches as are necessary to explain the Republican campaign issues. Some of his closest friends believe he will veto all requests for speeches on his final trip west.

KELLOGG ON WAY TO SIGN TREATY

New York, Aug. 18.—Frank B. Kellogg, secretary of state, today is enroute to Paris where on Aug. 27 he and the representatives of 14 other nations will sign the anti-war treaty which aims to insure world peace.

Before sailing on the Ile de France last night, Secretary Kellogg said that the signing of the treaty would be the only affair of state to occupy his attention while abroad. He disclosed that late this month he would pay an official visit to President Cosgrave of the Irish Free State in Dublin before sailing for home on Sept. 4.

A band of 50 shouting communists, waving inflammatory banners, staged a demonstration before the Ile de France left its pier here. They were dispersed by police.

Y., and at his summer place in Dartmouth, Mass. Mrs. Houghton will return to England next month.

Further than characterizing the multilateral treaty for the prevention of war as a measure that "gives the greatest hope of international peace," Houghton declined to discuss international affairs or national politics.

NEW MENACE IN FAR EAST WARS

London, Aug. 18.—A new menace in the Far East situation has developed with an uprising on the part of troops in Mongolia and the reported invasion of Manchuria.

Advices from Peking today stated that Mongolian cavalry had crossed the frontier into Northern Manchuria, cutting the Chinese eastern railway and seizing a portion of the line in Khabul district.

The trouble began with a military revolt in inner Mongolia where a movement was started to declare the country independent of China and annex it to outer Mongolia which is under the domination of Soviet Russia.

It is reported that Red Russians officers are involved in the military operations of the Red Mongolian cavalry. Chinese Nationalist troops have been sent to give battle to the Mongolian secessionists.

GIANTS DEFEAT PITTSBURGH IN FIRST GAME

Winning 2 Remaining Games of Series They Can Take Lead

New York, Aug. 18.—By beating the Cardinals in St. Louis today and tomorrow, the Giants can take the lead in the National League race; standing of the clubs then would be as follows:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
New York	66	43	.606
St. Louis	70	46	.603

The fly in this ointment is that the New York southpaws are due to play the Cardinals in the remaining games of the series, and the Cardinals are "the fondest things" in the world.

The precedent counts for little in the series. Yesterday the Giants defeated Clarence Mitchell, their pitcher, 3 to 2, for the first time he joined the St. Louis team.

Harry Benton, New York mound reliever, the timing Fitzsimmons saved the game by retiring five consecutive batters. A wild throw by a high was converted, into a home run by the fast broken-field runner, the first of Andy Reese, winning the game for the Giants.

The Giants now have won nine of 16 from St. Louis this season.

The fast-climbing pirates, scuttled the Phillies twice, 10 to 3, and 9 to 4, in the first two games. Traylor got even singles and P. Waner six.

High class twirling featured the first game. Hits by Flowers and McGraw in the ninth gave Buzz McVey of Brooklyn a 1 to 0 victory over Blake of the Cubs.

Old Roney held Boston to three hits and pitched Cincinnati to a 2 to 1 win over Greenfield, three runs being scored in the eighth.

Jack Russell of the Red Sox took 4 to 3 duel from Lyons of the White Sox by winning in the eleventh.

A triple by Muddy Ruel in the eighth broke up the Washington-Great Lakes game, the Nats getting a 1 to 1 verdict. The Senators took both place away from the Tigers.

Other teams did not play.

AUTO SPEEDERS IN BIG CLASSIC

Renowned Drivers To Compete In Race At Altoona Today

Speedway, Altoona, Pa., Aug. 18.—A race of racing autos today lured thousands of thrill seekers to the huge wooden bowl here where some of the world's most renowned drivers are to compete in the 200-mile International Speed Sweepstakes.

Bugs before the feature race was scheduled to begin the "highways" leading to the speedway were lined with traffic, and threatening rain clouds over the western section of the state failed to check the steady stream of race fans enroute to the parade.

The entries in the feature 200-mile race were:

- Len Duray, (Miller Special), Jersey Hills, Cal.
- Ray Kersch, (Simplex Piston Ring Special), Philadelphia.
- Les Meyer, (Stutz Special), San Mateo, Cal.

Babe Ruth To Join Farrell In Tour Of Golf Links In Fall

By DAVIS J. WALSH
New York, Aug. 18.—It is disquieting to think that we have been deceived about a matter like this all these years but the writer has come into possession of evidence today strongly indicating that reports of Barnum's death must have been grossly exaggerated, too.

Babe Ruth, greatest of ball players, and Johnny Farrell, greatest of professional golfers, are planning to go on a tour of the country's links immediately after the world's series.

Yes, the great man actually has let his commercial side get the better of him. It was a struggle, no doubt. His better and finer instincts counseled otherwise and his nights were sleepless and his days a haggard reproof to the scruples that once he had held so dear.

But all to no purpose. Human frailty triumphed again. In the end he capitulated. Mr. Ruth, the golfer, decided to turn professional.

His man of business now is putting out feelers to see what he can do about booking the dual attraction back and forth across the country this fall and early winter. If all goes well, there will be no barnstorming trip for Ruth, the ball player, for the first time in eight years. Ruth, the golfer, will be too busy counting the sap money, which is the easiest to get and the hardest to count. It takes so long.

They really seem to have something this time—Farrell, the open champion to draw the golf fans and Ruth to muster the baseball addicts. To make it look good from a competitive standpoint, they are working on a handicap plan that will figure to bring the two great rivals of the links down to the 18th hole on something like even terms.

Of course, the number of mugs who pay their way in to watch Ruth's technique will be counted on the fingers of one boxing glove. Plenty, however, will be interested in seeing the greatest long distance hitter known to baseball hit one off the tee. They won't be disappointed.

CITY BASEBALL SERIES IS OFF

Salem China and Schafer Billiards Will Not Meet For Title

The city baseball championship series between the Schafer Billiards and Salem China has been called off and will not be played, managers of both teams announced today.

Neither team was willing to play at Centennial park and the plan to play the three games at Beloit was said to be inconvenient for several members of each team.

Much interest has been displayed in the chance of having the series played this year, fans expressing regret upon the announcement of the cancellation.

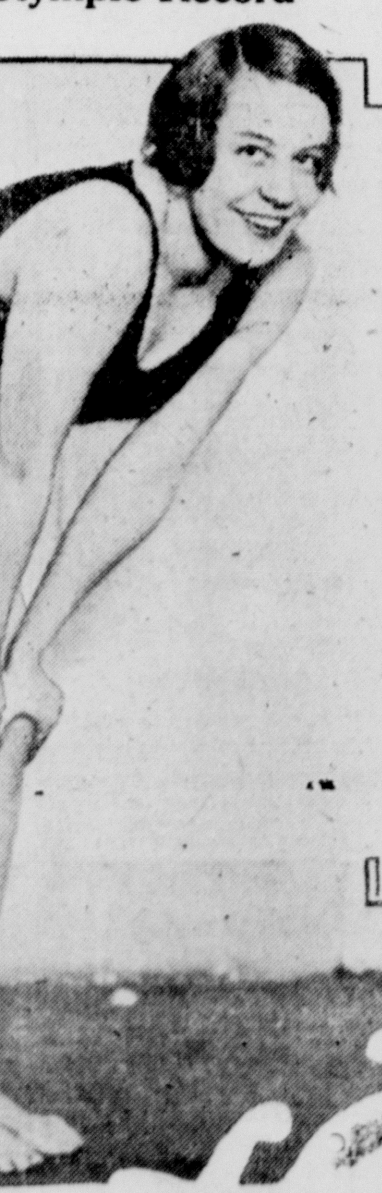

Frank Scullion of the Pottery team is planning to organize a team from both aggregations and issue a deft to the Lake Placid team of North Georgetown for a three game series. The Placidia outfit defeated the Schafer Billiards twice this year by one run margins.

He announced that Natural Color Pictures, Inc., had been formed to manufacture and market the device.

A demonstration of the improved color movies, before experts, showed many advantages, it was said, over the colored motion picture film in that many duplicates can be made from the original negative as with ordinary film and a picture of full theater size may be produced.

GLORIA SWANSON IS HEADLINER IN SADIE THOMPSON

The story of a golf suit salesman, mistaken for a millionaire, plunged into all kinds of trouble and adventure; a comedy of the new west; a melodrama of modern youth; a story of suffering Russia, the romance and tragedy of the Russian people.

These are the contrasting plots and motives found in the screen feature plays billed for the Grand and State next week, with the following well known characters: Richard Dix, Gertrude Olmstead, Tom Mix, Lionel Barrymore and Gloria Swanson.

The Barthelmess picture, "Wheels of Chance," at the State Wednesday and Thursday; Richard Dix in "Sporting Goods" at the State Friday and Saturday, and Gloria Swanson's "Sadie Thompson" which is at the Grand Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday are the leading films of the week.

Opening Monday at the State is Lionel Barrymore in "Roadhouse," a story of the much discussed "jazz mad youth," a daring melodrama depicting the pitfalls that beset the youth which is "jazz mad." It relates an incident pictured against the background of an average American city, with its residential and business sections and its community buildings as well as its roadhouse of shady character where the youth of its honest citizenry mingle with the vultures of crookdom.

"Sadie Thompson," at the Grand the first three days of the week, starring Miss Swanson, is somewhat different, telling the story of an outcast cabaret girl almost fruitless attempts to "come back" and regain the respect of respectful people.

Tom Mix is featured with his horse Tony in "Painted Posts" at the Grand the latter part of the week. Intermingled in the cast in the picture is a cast of chorus girls which find themselves stranded in the little town. Painted Posts of which Mix is sheriff. A continuous stream of humorous situations are the result of the girls' "greenish" investigations into western affairs, which finally get serious when a gang of thieves steal several of the girls and a bank's funds. Mix of course attends to the capture of the thieves and the prettiest girl's heart, after a thrilling chase through the well known mountain trail and woods.

Playing opposite Richard Dix in "Sporting Goods" is Gertrude Olmstead, and the pair of them create an excellent story in which Dix is a traveling salesman but must advance to some other position in life due to his loving a millionaire's daughter. He claims to be a millionaire and later, with a lot of luck makes good his boast and wins the girl.

Richard Barthelmess plays in the leading pictures of the week, "Wheels of Chance." In the middle of an attack on a small Russian home by a band of marauders, two sons, twins, of a Russian peasant family become separated. Each is brought to America under different circumstances, and meet in an American court, the one twin prosecuting attorney and the other an alleged murderer.

It is a dramatic moment in the court room, convincing and compelling Sydney Franklin, Warner Oland and Ann Schaefer are leading minor characters.

The full programs for the week follow:

STYLE EDICTS

Paris, Aug. 18.—Beach togs for the summer of 1934 are more simple and graceful than ever before. Dressmakers have happily lost the idea that to be chic the bathing-costume must be an elaborate affair of silk or satin. The day of the green silk skin-tight bathing suit sewed all over with glittering gold sequins seems far-distant.

Smart women are now wearing plain but well-cut costumes, admirably adapted to sun-baths as well as water ones. They are sometimes in two pieces and sometimes in one, but nearly all are belted with material in contrasting tones.

Heavy woolen tricot is the most popular fabric this year. It is far more comfortable if you wish to swim and whether wet or dry, fits much better than anything else.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

By Wanda Barton

A piano of the make, finish and reputation music lovers want to own is expensive.

A piano needs understanding care. It must not be placed in a sunny window or the rays will crack the finish. If the house is damp the piano should be kept closed when not in use and a small piece of charcoal laid inside the case. If there are moths about, a piece of camphor gum should be placed in the case. Traps should be set if there are mice in the house for they are fond of nesting in the upright piano.

A piano requires tuning at least once in two or three months to keep it in good shape, often if it is in constant use. This for the good of the instrument as well as the human ear. In dusting the piano inside the vacuum attachment may be run lightly over the wires and it will suck up all dust from under the wires, hammers and webbing. In cleaning the keys wring a soft flannel cloth out of toilet alcohol and rub them lightly then polish with a bit of dry flannel. Do not wet the wooden portions of the keys.

Fine furniture polish will keep the case clean and bright used on a soft cloth and polished with a dry soft cloth. In damp climate, or in rainy seasons, sometimes a "bloom" or cloudiness forms over the case that the polish does not always remove and we are forced to try other means. One effective remedy is to mix a half cupful of clear turpentine with a cupful of water and a half teaspoonful of toilet alcohol. Go over the surface with this mixture on a soft cloth then go over with a dry soft cotton flannel cloth, or a new piece of soft chambray.

Glut In Professions In Hungary Brings Curb For Students

Budapest, Aug. 18.—The number of students entering the Hungarian universities next year has to be reduced by thirty per cent, owing to a recent decree of the Hungarian Minister of Education Count Klebelsberg.

The minister asserts that there are too many professional men in Hungary, and that middle-class parents should rather make manual laborers out of their sons than to send them to universities.

At the same time the minister maintains that the enlargement of the Hungarian universities is necessary in order to prove to the world that Hungary has a higher cultural standard than its Balkan neighbors.

This official standpoint has been severely criticised by the opposition and many Budapest newspapers express fears that the government's policy might lead to universities having more professors than students.

Wouldn't you prefer a car built in the World's Most Modern Automobile Plant?

Today you demand infinitely more in your automobile than you did five years ago. You demand higher top speed, more trustworthy performance, greater snap and acceleration and longer life.

In order to satisfy you, Oakland now builds the All-American Six and the Pontiac Six with greater care than ever before. Where tolerances of one-thousandth of an inch were once permissible, now scores of operations are accurate within one ten-thousandth of an inch. Oakland and Pontiac Sixes are built in factories constructed almost entirely within the past two years. Oakland is constantly discarding and replacing equipment, content to use only the very newest, most accurate designs. Oakland inspection standards are second to none in the industry, regardless of the price of the cars to which they are applied.

Wouldn't you prefer a car built in the world's most modern automobile plant with standards of precision such as Oakland employs? Drive an All-American Six or a Pontiac Six, and you'll find the answer in superior performance, stamina and reliability.

Oakland All-American Six, $1045 to $1265. Pontiac Six, $745 to $875. All prices at factory. Check Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices—they include lowest handling charges. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

LONDON ENJOYS BEST POST-WAR TOURIST SEASON

Hotels Fill Up and Many Have Trouble Obtaining Any Accommodations

London, Aug. 18.—This summer has seen the greatest London tourist season since the war. Hotels, restaurants, theaters, jewellers, court dressmakers and florists all report an unprecedented post-war business.

The season started exceptionally early, the hotels beginning to fill up as far back as Easter. In previous years one found no difficulty in securing rooms at the fashionable hotels before June, but this year it was necessary to make reservations a week ahead as early as May.

Booked in Advance
During the latter part of June and the first of July it was impossible to secure rooms of any description without reserving them 10 to 14 days ahead.

The record season was largely due to a big increase in the number of American visitors. The steamships have brought over approximately 25,000 more Americans than last year. One company alone bringing 12,000 more than it did in 1927 up to the first of July.

It is authoritatively estimated that the amount of money spent by Americans in London this summer will probably approach one billion dollars.

Theaters Get Share
Restaurants report one of the best seasons on record. "Late dinners," said the manager of a famous house in Piccadilly, "have been a notable feature of this year."

Previously it has hardly paid to keep one. Now we have difficulty in finding space for the diners. The theaters have also shared in reaping a rich harvest. For weeks at Drury-lane, where the American production "Show-Boat" is playing, the average evening attendance has been about 2,500.

The attendances at the London Pavilion, where the English revue, "This Year of Grace," is being played, have been "astounding," to quote C. B. Cochran, the "Tex Rickard" of London.

"Friends of Cats" Against Rocket Car

Berlin, Aug. 18.—The "Association of German Friends of Cats" assembled in mass meeting in Berlin to protest against the use of a cat by Fritz von Opel in his "rocket auto" with which he recently tried to break the world speed record.

The cat was put on the "rocket auto" in order to test the effect of high speed on a living organism. The "rocket auto" exploded and was derailed. The cat was not seen again, and though some insisted that it was killed its fate has never been established beyond peradventure of a doubt.

Victor Fraenkl, a noted Berlin lawyer and chairman of the "German League for Animal Rights" held a speech in which he objected to the use of animals for any experimental purposes.

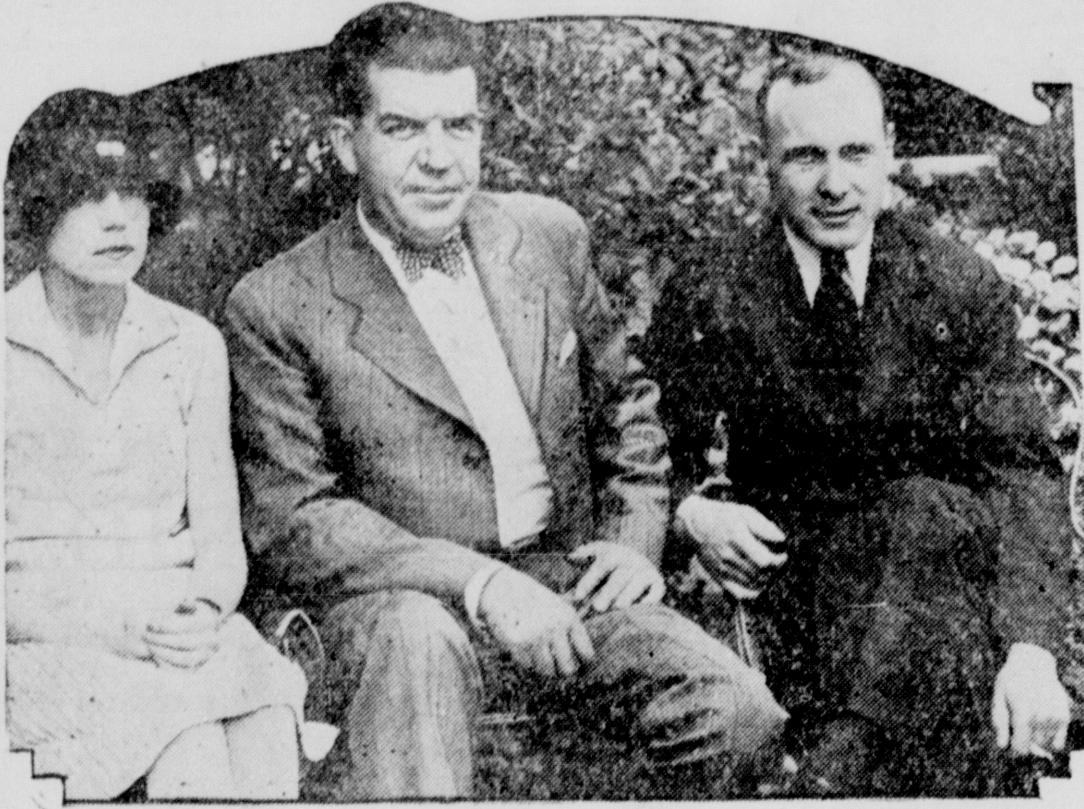

Von Opel sent an explanatory letter, but his explanation was considered inadequate and a resolution of protest was adopted and forwarded to him.

The Slim Silhouette

The silhouette is still the vogue for the town frock. This two-piece dress of crepe and satin in two tones worn by Ruth Taylor, film actress, features the new dark hem. Wide bands of satin are pieced in the blouse in a V-shape, with French fagotting. Snakeskin shoes and a felt hat complete the costume.

They'll Follow Lindy's Trail

Captain Harry Lyon (centre), navigator of the amazing flight of the Southern Cross from San Francisco to Australia, plans now to fly the Atlantic in a multi-motor plane. He is shown here with Captain Newton Lancaster, of England, and Mrs. Keith Miller, of Australia, who will accompany him.

Hubby Somewhat Parsimonious On Honeymoon, Claim

Cleveland, Aug. 18.—She learned that her husband was rather parsimonious while they were honeymooning in Florida. Mrs. Alice M. Jackson, of Lorain, charges in a divorce suit on file in common pleas court here today.

When she asked him for a dime to look through a street corner telescope at the moon, she says, he refused, pointing out that it was only a quarter moon and that it would be wiser to save the dime and have a peek through the lenses when the moon was full.

The husband, Arthur W. Jackson, reputedly wealthy real estate dealer, of this city, also promised to build a $50,000 home for her and her two daughters by a former marriage, she says, and has failed to do so.

Mrs. Jackson further declares that when she protested over the cheap quarters where they were stopping during their honeymoon, the groom told her that he could have married another woman who would have paid her own expenses on the trip. She asks dismissal of his divorce suit, filed earlier, and alimony.

CONVICT FACES ANOTHER TERM

Columbus, Aug. 18.—Fred Kellogg, Perry county convict serving time for carrying concealed weapons, was back in the penitentiary here today facing an additional indefinite sentence, minimum 10 years, for manslaughter imposed on him yesterday by Judge N. Craig McBride, Hillsboro, at New Lexington, O.

Kellogg was convicted for his part in the death of Grant Weakley, penitentiary guard, which occurred in a dentist's office at New Lexington a year ago when Kellogg and Patrick Riley, another prisoner, attempted to escape. The two men at the time of the slaying had been working in a brick yard at Junction City and had been taken to New Lexington for dental work.

Weakley was killed when the pair made the futile escape attempt. Riley was sentenced to life imprisonment a short time ago on second degree murder charge for the guard's death.

Judge McBride is sitting on the Perry county common pleas bench by assignment.

British Engineer Is Sought In Jungles; Lost For 3 Years

Los Angeles, Aug. 18.—Lost three years in the mysterious Mato Grosso jungle in interior Brazil, P. H. Fawcett, daring British engineer, is today the victim of a search for a lost civilization.

Belief that Fawcett is dead and that a rescue expedition headed by Commander George M. Fyott will prove fruitless was expressed by Prof. George M. McBride, associate professor of geography, University of California at Los Angeles and close follower of Fawcett's expedition.

The dramatic attempt to reach an ancient city somewhere in the tangled fastnesses of the great jungle was sketched by McBride today.

"Fawcett, who was last heard from May 20, 1925, heard rumors among the natives during a previous trip to the interior of Brazil that a large and populous city existed somewhere in the jungle in a location never before visited by white men," McBride said.

"After the war, with a party of three, Fawcett set out to find this place. The explorer went almost unarmed, depending on flashlights to awe the natives. He was resourceful and experienced, besides being a good fighter."

LIST 9 POINTS TO AID FARMER

Ohio's Crops Reports Are Analyzed For Buyer And Seller

Looking ahead towards fall, when the farmer shifts from producer to seller, rural economists at the Ohio State university list nine points the Ohio farmer will need to keep in mind in selling and buying farm produce.

From government crop reports, which are designed to assist the farmer in planning his marketing and production practice, one of the Ohio economists, C. R. Arnold, has singled out these points:

"1.—The corn crop will be larger than last year and larger than average. 2. The number of hogs will be less. 3. Ohio will have a record oats crop and the entire United States a larger than average one. 4. Ohio and also the entire United States will have the largest amount of barley ever produced in one year. 5. Total wheat production in Ohio will be very low, but for the entire country it will be somewhat above average. 6. We have prospects for large crops of pears, peaches and grapes. 7. Total apple production is below average, but the commercial production about average. 8. We have prospects for a large potato crop both in Ohio and the entire country. 9. Hay production will be somewhat low in the United States and especially low in Ohio."

Facts buttressing these nine points are, in part, given by Mr. Arnold as follows:

"General crop conditions throughout Ohio and in general throughout the United States have improved greatly during the past month, and almost without exception the prospective production on Aug. 1 as reported by the United States Department of Agriculture was larger than was anticipated by the condition of the growing crops a month ago. The very excessive rainfall all through June made the outlook, especially for corn, somewhat doubtful at the first of July, but the more desirable weather and especially the hot nights of the last month have turned many doubtful looking corn fields into good prospects for a high yield."

"For the state as a whole, the condition on Aug. 1 indicated a production of 146 million bushels, which would be 37 million bushels more than last year and about two million bushels more than the average production for the state during the past five years. For the entire United States, we now have prospects for a corn crop of slightly more than three billion bushels, about 9 per cent larger than a year ago, which was about an average crop for the entire country. With a probable large corn crop and reduced number of hogs in the country, a better return should be made through feeding hogs this winter than for the last few years."

There will be no preaching services at Trinity Lutheran church until the first Sunday in September on account of the pastor, Rev. G. D. Keister having his vacation.

The Weikart family reunion will be held at the Canfield fair grounds on Sunday.

Prince George, M. C.—A trapper who amputated four of his toes with a kitchen knife when they became frozen last winter has arrived here for professional surgical attention but was told he had done the job so well no further treatment was needed.

RELIABLE USED CARS

It pays to go to the Buick Dealer

Two used cars may look much the same from the outside. Mileage, model, tires and general appearance may be all about alike.

Yet there may be a great deal of difference nevertheless—a difference in mechanical condition which will soon show up in actual driving.

You have only the word of the dealer to go by.

That's why it pays to go to the Buick dealer. You can rely on what he says. And you may be sure his price is fair.
